Official Paper of the City.

Fort Moultrie and Castle Pinckney Taken.

Our telegraphic despatches bring the intelligence that Fort Moultrie and Castle Pinckney were taken possession of by the military of South Carolina last night. Though it is not stated, we infer from the wording of the despatch that there was no resistance. Whether this was accomplished by the orders of the president, by force, or by the surrender of the garrison, because they were powerless for a defence—in either case, the president is responsible, and should be punished as an abettor of treason.

MR. WADE'S SPEECH.

Some considerable space will be occupied in our paper to-day and to-morrow by the speech of Senator Wade. It partakes of the characteristics of his author, being frank, manly and outspoken, without being offensive. Mr. Wade is a sincere man and his political principles are convictions—hence he is among those who have no concessions or conciliations to make, where it is impossible to make any without yielding the whole question. We ask for Mr. Wade's speech a careful and candid perusal by men of all parties.

The Rebel Convention.

The session of the South Carolina Convention, on the 26th, was characterized, chiefly, by a discussion upon the right of citizenship, and the presentation of an ordinance by Mr. Rhett for a convention of the southern states.

It was proposed that all persons domiciled in the state when the ordinance passed should be declared citizens of the new nation. There appears to be some uneasiness on the part of adopted citizens in South Carolina about their oath of allegiance to the United States. They are situated differently from the native citizen who take no oath, and a member proposes to make citizens of all without calling upon them for an additional oath. Whether the adopted citizens will consider this as absolving them from their solemn oath of allegiance to the United States, remains to be seen. With conscientious men this method of dispensing with a sworn obligation, must produce considerable doubt and hesitation, even in South Carolina, where everybody appears to be insane.

The ordinance offered by Mr. Rhett is one of considerable consequence, as marking the progress of ideas in the convention. The following is a synopsis of it:

1st. That the conventions of the seceding slaveholding states of the United States unite with South Carolina, and hold a convention at Montgomery, Alabama, for the purpose of forming a southern confederacy. 2d. That the said seceding states appoint, by their respective conventions or legislatures, as many delegates as they have representatives in the present congress of the United States, to the said convention, to be held at Montgomery, Alabama, and that from the adoption of the constitution of the southern confederacy the votes shall be by states. 3d. That whenever the terms of the constitution shall be agreed upon by the said convention, the same shall be submitted at as early a day as practicable to the convention and legislatures of each state respectively, so as to enable them to ratify or reject the said constitution. 4th. That in the opinion of South Carolina the Constitution of the United States will form a suitable basis for the confederation of the southern states withdrawing. 5th. That the South Carolina convention appoint ballot delegates to represent South Carolina in the convention for the formation of a southern confederacy. Lastly, that one commissioner in each state be elected to call the attention of the people to the ordinance.

WHAT THE SECESSIONISTS HAVE DONE.—It is stated that the exports from the port of New York, this year, will exceed one hundred millions of dollars—fully thirty per cent. more than those of any previous year. But for the recent political agitation which has checked the movement of cotton from southern ports, the exports of the United States this calendar year would have amounted to a figure far beyond the most sanguine calculations. As it is, they will probably exceed $430,000,000.

DEATH OF THE REV. J. H. INGRAHAM, L. D.—We learn that the Rev. Mr. Ingraham died from the wounds he received by an accidental discharge of a pistol, on the 18th inst., at his residence, in Holy Springs, Miss.

Mr. Ingraham was Rector of Christ Church, Holy Springs, and was the president of St. Thomas College, at that place. He is widely known as the author of the "Prince of the House of David," &c.

The New Orleans Delta of the 20th comes out with an able article boldly taking ground against secession, and in favor of the Union.

Messrs. Rhett, Spratt and others, in the Charleston convention on Monday, expressed the opinion that the fugitive slave law is unconstitutional. They desire in this way to operate upon the fears of the border slave states, and thus force them into secession. It is proposed to pacify these traitors by repelling our personal liberty laws, which the democratic doughface press say nullifies the fugitive slave law, and which they denounce as the cause of disunion in the south. What have they got to say now to reconcile their theory with that of Messrs. Rhett, Spratt & Co? Will the Madison Patriot answer?

A NEW PHASE IN SECESSION.—There is a scheme on foot in Virginia for the withdrawal of the counties west of the Blue Ridge, to form a free state. We do not see why counties may not secede from a state, if a state can legally separate itself from the Union.

Many persons fancy themselves friendly, when they are only officious. They counsel not so much that they would become wise, as that they should be recognized as teachers of wisdom.

MR. WADE'S SPEECH.

charges against us, but it has been said the north has been faithful to the fugitive slave law. That law in some of its provisions is very odious to us, and to all who are of the anglo-saxon race.

Mr. Green said that the people of the north showed no hesitation to give up fugitives from justice; no complaint was made by them on that score; all their sympathy was reserved for the fugitive negro, (cheers in the galleries). The usual notice was given by the chair that if such cheers were repeated the galleries would be cleared.

Mr. Wade resumed. Let them cheer, said he, the fugitive slave law if they please. The law says that a fugitive shall be taken to the state from whence he came, but in practice he is carried anywhere. Mr. W. knew where, under this bill, free men had been kidnapped and carried away and sold into everlasting slavery. Will the senators, who are such stout advocates for state rights, deny a state the power of defending her own citizens from all exterior authority, even including the federal government? Undoubtedly these personal liberty laws were not made to cast any dishonor or degradation on any state or states; and he, Mr. W., was glad to hear the senator from Virginia say that their repeal would not relieve the complaints of the south. Mr. W. had heard it said that the people of the free states, and especially the republican party, would not repeal these laws. Now, it will be remembered, that his colleague from Ohio (Mr. Pugh) had said that the republican judges and republican courts in Ohio had fulfilled this repulsive duty with perfect faithfulness. The senator from Illinois (Mr. Douglas) had taken the name of his state, and the senator from Indiana (Mr. Fitch) had done so for his. Now, on the other hand, continued Mr. W., where you have lost one slave we have lost ten men murdered by your mobs. Men from the north who travel in the south for business or pleasure are met by your vigilance committees and insulted, abused, or killed. If a man from Ohio goes south they do not ask him what party he is of, or what flag he follows, but treat him in a manner that would disgrace savages. We have no security. No matter how worthy, how innocent a man may be, if he be from the north he is a marked man. If he exercised his political rights, and especially if he voted for Lincoln, it is an indignity not to be tolerated. Yet you can accuse us of violating the Constitution. Mr. W. did not believe that in the history of the world there ever was a nation or a people wherein a law repugnant to the general feeling was executed with equal fidelity to that of the fugitive slave law. No repugnant law can be executed with the same facility as a law which meets with the inclination of the people. Every candid man will admit this. Now, there is a law in Charleston, South Carolina, to put poor men who come there from northern states into jail, and if they do not pay their jail fees they are sold for those fees into eternal slavery. Is not this alike contrary to humanity and to the Constitution of the United States? Mr. W. did not say this to inflame animosities in the present state of excitement, for he preferred peace and quietness. You, said Mr. W., (speaking to the other side), own the cabinet and the senate and you own the President of the United States as much as any one of you owns a servant or a slave plantation. What do southern men complain of then? You cannot point out any acts of the republican party of which you can complain?

Now, Mr. President, I have shown, I think, that the dominant majority here have nothing to complain of in the legislation of congress, or in the legislation of any of the states, or in the practice of the people of the north under the fugitive slave bill, except so far as they say certain state legislation has been some evidence of hostility to their institutions. And here, sir, I beg to make an observation. I tell the senators and I tell the senators, that the republican party of the northern states, so far as I know, and of my own state in particular, hold the same opinions with regard to this peculiar institution of yours that are held by all the civilized nations of the world. We do not differ from the public sentiment of England, of France, of Germany, of Italy, and every other civilized nation on God's earth; and I tell you frankly that you never found that, and you never will find, a free community that is at love with your peculiar institution. The senator from Texas (Mr. Wigfall) told us the other day that Texas was king, and that by its influence it would govern all creation. He did not say so in words, but that was the substance of his remark: that cotton was king and that it had its subjects in Europe who dared not rebel against it. Here let me say to that senator, in passing, that it turns out that they are very rebellious subjects, and they are talking very disrespectfully at present of that king that he spoke of. They defy you to exercise your power over them. They tell you that they sympathize in this controversy with you, and that the black republicans. Therefore I hope that, so far as Europe is concerned at least, we shall hear no more of this boast that cotton is king, and that he is going to rule all civilized nations of the world and bring them to his footstool. Sir, it will never be done.

But, sir, I wish to inquire whether the southern people are injured by, or have any just right to complain of that platform of principles that we put out, and on which we have elected a president and vice-president. I have no concealments to make, and I shall talk to you, my southern friends, precisely as I would talk to the stamp on the subject. I tell you that in that platform we did lay it down that we would, if we were the power, prohibit slavery from another inch of free territory under this government. I stand on that position to-day. I have argued it probably to half a million people. They stand there, and have commissioned and enjoined me to stand there forever; and so help me God, I will. I say to you, frankly, gentlemen, that while we hold this doctrine, there is no republican, there is no convention of republicans, there is no paper that speaks for them, there is no orator that says forth, there is no statesman that interferes with your peculiar institution; but, on the other hand, our authoritative platform repudiates the idea that we have any right or any intention ever to invade your peculiar institution in your own states. Now, what do you complain of? You are going to break up this government; you are going to involve us in war and blood, from a mere suspicion that we shall justify that which we stand everywhere pledged not to do. Would you be justified in the eyes of the civilized world in making so monstrous a position, and predicated on a bare, groundless suspicion? We do not love slavery. Did you not know that before to-day before this session commenced? Have you not a perfect confidence that the civilized world are against you on this subject of loving slavery or believing that it is the best institution in the world? Why, sir, everything remains precisely as it was a year ago. No great catastrophe has occurred. There is no recent occasion to accuse us of anything. But all at once, when we meet here, a kind of gloom prevades the whole community and the senate members rise and tell us that they are the eve of breaking up this government; that seven or eight states are going to break off their connection with the government; retire from the Union, and set up a hostile government of their own, and they look imploringly over to us, and say to us, "You can prevent it; we can do nothing to prevent; but it all lies with you." Well, sir, what can we do to prevent it? You have not even considered to tell us what you want; but I think I see through the speeches that I have heard from gentlemen on the other side. If we would give up our verdict of the people and take your platform, I do not know but you would be satisfied with it. I think the senator from Texas rather intimidated, and I think the senator from Georgia more than intimidated, that if we would take what is exactly the Charleston platform on which Mr. Breckinridge was placed, and give up that on which we won our victory, you would grumblingly and hesitatingly be satisfied.

Mr. Iveson—I would prefer that the senator would look over my remarks before quoting them so confidently. I made no such statement as that. I did say that I would be satisfied with any such thing—I would not be satisfied with it.

Mr. Wade—I did not say that the senator said so; but by construction I gathered that from his speech. I do not know that I was right in it.

Mr. Iveson—The Senator is altogether wrong in his construction.

Mr. Wade—Well, sir, I have now found what the Senator said on the other point to which he called my attention a little while ago. Here it is:

Mr. Wade—I would prefer that the senator would look over my remarks before quoting them so confidently. I made no such statement as that. I did say that I would be satisfied with any such thing—I would not be satisfied with it.

CAPE RACE, Dec. 27. The steamship Kangaroo from Liverpool 19th inst., passed off the Cape at half past 6 o'clock on Thursday evening. A heavy gale which had prevailed for the past week has caused such a sea that the news yacht of the associated press was unable to put out to obtain the news despatches for the associated press.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 28. The meeting at Barnum's hotel last eve so far from being a secession meeting was an informal meeting of merchants, members of the bar and others to devise such means as may be deemed necessary to preserve the integrity of Maryland in the present threatening aspect of affairs. It was composed of conservative union saving citizens, but the privacy with which the proceedings were conducted may have an impression to seem that it was of an opposite character.

FORT KEARNEY, Dec. 28. The western stage from Denver with mails, 6 passengers and $12,000 in treasure passed here at 4 P. M. yesterday for Omaha. The weather is clear and pleasant in Denver, and building was still going on.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 29. An ordinance entitled, an ordinance to amend the constitution of S. C. in respect to the executive departments, passed in the secret session of the convention yesterday. It provides as follows:

1st. That the governor has power to receive and execute the laws, to conduct negotiations with foreign powers, to make treaties by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to appoint ambassadors, ministers and consuls as the general assembly may previously direct and also all other officers whose appointments have not otherwise been provided for. To convene the senate whenever he thinks it necessary, provided, nevertheless, during the existence of the convention that all treaties and directions for the appointment of ambassadors, ministers, consuls, &c., be subject to the advice or consent of the convention.

2d. That the governor immediately appoint four persons with the advice and consent of the convention, who, with the lieutenant governor, shall form a council to be called the executive council, whose duties it shall be to advise with him.

All obligation of secrecy in regard to the above obligation was withdrawn.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 28. A large convention of mechanics and working men yesterday passed strong Union resolutions favoring a call for a national working men's convention, and discountenancing ultra politicians north and south.

FORT KEARNEY, Dec. 28. The Pony Express with California dates to the 15th passed here at 9:30 last evening. The two strongest candidates for United States senator this winter appear to be Gen. Douglas and Gen. Denver. The Pony Express with St. Louis dates to the 30th and telegraph dates to 3 P. M. of the 28th inst. Fort Kearney arrived in Carson on the 14th inst.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. In the United States district court to-day, on motion of assistant United States attorney, the court granted an injunction restraining the Bank of the Republic and its president from disposing of any bonds in his possession, until further order of the court. The bill charges that the above bonds were stolen from an iron safe in the department of the interior, and that some of the stolen bonds were deposited or hypothecated by Russell, Major and Wadwell, with the Bank of the Republic. Judge Smalley also granted an order returnable next Monday for the Bank of the Republic to show cause why the injunction should not be counted permanent.

ONE OF THE STORIES.—One of the means employed to exasperate public feeling in the south is shown by the following communication, which appears in the Columbia South Carolinian:

CHARLESTON POLICE, LOOK OUT! Mr. Editor: By a letter from New York, there is reason to apprehend that the Lincoln men have been gathering up the small-pox virus, and intend to inoculate the south, to chase the secession conventions and legislatures from place until they are made powerless.

Six men are on the way, having left New York on Saturday, and will be probably at Kingsville to-morrow to inoculate the cars loaded with members.

A DETROITED KING.—Cotton is said to be king, but if it is a monarch, its reign approaches a downfall. Dr. Livingston, the well-known explorer, writes to the Bishop of Oxford, expressing pleasure that the universities are to send ministers to the interior of Africa. He describes the region, bathed by the lakes, as pre-eminently a cotton growing country. He says the French have a strong desire to enter.

TOO MUCH FOR HIS SEAT.—The senator last Thursday. He is opposed to the Union but he likes his salary.

A HASTY BRIDEGROOM.—On an occasion, says the Springfield Republican, do people seem more prone to commit blunders than at a wedding. The following actually occurred in a neighboring town: In the midst of a crowd of witnesses, the clergyman had just completed that interesting ceremony which binds the sacred bonds of wedlock two loving hearts, and stretched forth his hands to implore the blessing of heaven on the union. At this point the groomsmen, seeing the open hands reached out, supposed it was the signal for him to surrender the wedding fee, which was burning in his pocket. Accordingly, just as the clergyman raised his eyes in prayer, he felt the pressure of two sweaty half-dollars upon his open palm. The good man hesitated a moment, appalled at the indecorousness of his situation, but coolly deposited the money in his pocket and proceeded with his devotion.

Popping Corn.

We were popping corn, Sweet Kitty and I; It danced about, And it danced up high. The embers were hot, And it went up lively, And it came down white. White and nutty and crisp, Crisp and nutty and white. The prettiest fairy dance in the world! In their fire of light, And it went up brown, And it came down white. Ah! many a time are the embers hot, And the human spirit can break it not, Yet radiant forth the fiery light, It comes transformed and enrobed in white.

Sleighting Song.

O, swift we go o'er the sleigh way, When moonbeams sparkle round, When hoofs keep time to music's chime, As merrily on we bound. Then jingle, jingle, ring, like the sleigh-bells ring, As merrily on we bound. On Winter's night, our hearts are light, And breath is on the wind, We loose the rein, we sweep the plains, And leave all our cares behind; But give the speed of the foaming steed, Till ask for the waves no more; As merrily, &c.

This is the great blessing of marriage, that it delivers from the tyranny of Meum and Tuum. Converting each into the other, it endears them both, and turns a slavish, deadening drudgery into a free and joyous service. And by bringing home to every one's heart that he is sometimes better than mere self, that he is the part of a higher and more precious whole, it becomes a type of the union between the church and her Lord.

A SCRAP OF HISTORY.—The Louisville Journal of Tuesday, alluding to the debate between Mr. Douglas and Mr. Mason of Virginia, respecting the fugitive slave law, says:

Mr. Clay said to us at the house of a relation of his in this city, that in his opinion Mr. Mason purposely made the fugitive slave law offensive to the north in one or more of its features, his object being to bring about the defeat of the great compromise of 1850.

Thomas Hood once admonished a gossiping christian to beware lest her piety should prove, after all, to be nothing better than mag-piety.

MARRIED.

On the 27th inst. at the house of the bride's father, by the Rev. G. C. Heckman, Mr. CORNELIUS VAN DERWALT and MARY B. LEE, all of this city.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

A New Church in Janesville.

We have been permitted to examine the drawing of the elevation of a new church structure, which is to be erected for the congregation of Christ Church, of which Rev. Mr. Spalding is Rector. The two lots on the corner of Court and Wisconsin streets, fronting on the public square, have been purchased of H. Richardson, Esq., upon which the new building is to be located. These lots are among the most desirable in the city, being upon the bluff on the east side of the river, with a fine prospect of the surrounding country.

The style of architecture of the church is to be a blending of the Norman and Gothic. The main part will be forty-three feet front, by eighty deep; chancel 15x18 feet, and the study and vestry rooms will be 11x12 feet, each. The tower will be 16x16 feet at the base, and 130 feet high, situated upon the right corner of the church. On the left corner and in the center will be porches.

The building is to be composed of the best Janesville quarry stone, with buttresses and door and window trimmings of fine Athens, Ill., stone, which will contrast elegantly with our quarry stone, and must produce an agreeable effect. The windows are to be of stained glass.

The cost of the structure, including the lots, will be between $3,000 and $10,000, and when completed will be an ornament to the whole city.

We understand that the subscription is rapidly filling up, and that there is no doubt that the contract for the erection of the building will be let before spring.

The drawings of the intended structure are at Mr. Ballou's store, in Pease's block, where those who are anxious to see how the new Episcopal Church is to look, when completed, can have an opportunity by calling.

Attention of builders is called to an advertisement in our columns to-day inviting proposals for the completion of the above church.

The Way to Advertise.

A well informed writer, in discussing the different modes of advertising, forcibly illustrates the benefit of the columns of a newspaper. He says—"The newspaper is circulated without any postage expense to the advertiser, which is by no means an unimportant item, as every one will testify who has had any experience in distributing his own advertisements. Not only is the advertisement circulated by the newspaper free of all expense, but it is done more speedily and thoroughly than can be done by the advertiser. The newspaper is already an established system; a thousand doors are open to welcome it, a thousand messengers are daily and weekly seeking the post office to receive it, a thousand people look for its coming, and a thousand read it when it does come. Again, those who read the newspaper are the very persons the advertiser wants to reach—they are the well-to-do, intelligent and enterprising citizens of a country, and are therefore the most likely to buy that which is worth buying. Again, the newspaper is not a transient, but a periodical visitor. It comes day by day, and week by week, and it is expected and welcomed as a friend. To it every one looks for information upon the subjects of interest to himself. The city reader sees the telegraph reports and foreign news, and then at his leisure reads the propositions of advertisers, and dips into politics. The country subscribers, however, read everything from the head of the paper to the last line of the advertising page. Away from the attractions and turmoil of the city, he has leisure to do so, and is benefitted by thus doing. Thus every advertiser reaches the people he desires—the wholesale dealer principally through the daily press, and the retail dealer through the daily and weekly both. It is idle to talk about advertisements not being read, for observation and experience prove the contrary. Sooner or later every advertisement will be read by every subscriber, who will be interested or influenced by its contents. It is true some advertisements are read more than others, but this is on account of the tact of the advertiser, and not the fault of the newspaper in which it appears."

A GOOD WORKMAN.—Mr. John Thomson, who advertises his tailoring business in our columns, is an excellent workman. We have ourselves examined specimens of his work, and know that those who employ him are thoroughly satisfied with him. He does the work of his shop himself, and we confidently recommend him.

LARGE VEGETABLES.—Mr. J. B. Pember, of the town of Johnston, left with us, a few days since, some vegetables which show good culture and good seed. A French sugar beet weighed 1 1/2 lbs., a sweet turnip 7 lbs., and a Hubbard squash 15 1/2 lbs. The seed for the squash was obtained directly from James J. H. Gregory, of Marblehead, Mass., the original propagator of the variety, and was consequently pure. We presume seed for future planting may be obtained from Mr. Pember.

THE AMERICAN HOUSE AT MADISON.—This excellent hotel is kept by J. W. Jefferson, and is not entirely unknown to Rock county frequenters at the capital, as we generally find some of them there, when we visit Madison. Those who design spending some time at Madison, during the session of the legislature, will find at this house a careful and liberal host, polite attendants, and generous fare. We know whereof we speak, as we have had frequent opportunities of testing the good qualities of the American, and we recommend our friends to do likewise.

The Madison Patriot says, that in proportion to the amount offered many lots of forfeited mortgaged lands have been sold. Some few lots will be sold to-morrow morning and the balance will be offered on the 8th of January.

None but a fool is always right; and his right is the most unreasonable wrong.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

A New Church in Janesville.

We have been permitted to examine the drawing of the elevation of a new church structure, which is to be erected for the congregation of Christ Church, of which Rev. Mr. Spalding is Rector. The two lots on the corner of Court and Wisconsin streets, fronting on the public square, have been purchased of H. Richardson, Esq., upon which the new building is to be located. These lots are among the most desirable in the city, being upon the bluff on the east side of the river, with a fine prospect of the surrounding country.

The style of architecture of the church is to be a blending of the Norman and Gothic. The main part will be forty-three feet front, by eighty deep; chancel 15x18 feet, and the study and vestry rooms will be 11x12 feet, each. The tower will be 16x16 feet at the base, and 130 feet high, situated upon the right corner of the church. On the left corner and in the center will be porches.

The building is to be composed of the best Janesville quarry stone, with buttresses and door and window trimmings of fine Athens, Ill., stone, which will contrast elegantly with our quarry stone, and must produce an agreeable effect. The windows are to be of stained glass.

The cost of the structure, including the lots, will be between $8,000 and $10,000, and when completed will be an ornament to the whole city.

JANESVILLE, DECEMBER 28, 1890. Receipts of wheat were about the same today as yesterday with no change in prices though the market may be quoted firm, full quotations being 70¢/bu for milling spring and 69¢/bu for shipping. Receipts of dressed hogs were very large there being 200 head on market, and prices under a strong competition between shippers and buyers were a little better. We make up prices as follows: WHEAT—good to choice milling spring 70¢/bu; fair to good dry shipping 69¢/bu; damp and grown 68¢/bu; OATS—fair to good 35¢/bu; POTATOES—plenty at 12¢/bu for common to fair and 14¢ for choice quality. BUTTER—plenty at 12¢/bu for common to fair and 14¢ for choice quality. EGGS—in demand at 12¢/doz per dozen. HIDE—green, 44¢/lb; dry, 5¢/lb. FLOUR—spring at retail 2.25, per 100 lbs. FORTY—dressed turkeys, 8¢/lb; chickens, 5¢/lb; SKEP PELTS—range from 25¢/1.00 each.
